VortexHealing has been written about in various magazines, including Kindred Spirit, which is the most well-known new age magazine in England. Richard Beaumont, the editor of Kindred Spirit, wrote, “. . . a friend of mine, who had been playing the violin for twenty-five years, played a quick ditty on her violin and placed it into Ric Weinman’s open hands, asking him to be careful with her much-loved instrument. Two other friends were there, with myself as witnesses. He went into the now familiar intense breathing for a prolonged period, and then gave it back to her, explaining that it had had an imperceptible crack in it, but it had been mended through a weaving of energy in the Vortex. She played it softly. Such an amazing difference could be heard by all of us. Deeper, richer, more subtle. I looked closely at my friend—her smile and the tears in her eyes confirmed the positive change in her cherished violin. Ric then proceeded to change the tones of other instruments to the delight of us all. He also had a student of his, who had driven him to the meeting, perform a similar “operation” on another friend’s guitar. Ric had proved beyond doubt that no matter how he may explain it, he had the power to change an instrument’s quality, and teach that skill to others.”

In To Your Health, Terry Andrews wrote (after participating in a Training) “I began to practice VortexHealing on family members and friends after the first workshop and I am impressed with the impact VortexHealing has on people. My mother experienced relief from the pain of osteoarthritis and a return of her strength. A friend’s persistent eye infection vanished overnight. Another friend received relief from an ear infection.”

VortexHealing is taught in many parts of the world. It can be taught solely by certified VortexHealing teachers. Visit www.vortexhealing.org to find the schedule of VortexHealing classes worldwide and to view the list of certified VortexHealing teachers. Special training is required to become the vehicle for the transmission of this lineage.

VortexHealing offers 5 levels of classes. Each level has a core class that is the prerequisite for the next level, and each level has one or more optional classes that are not prerequisites for the next level. The first class, the Basic Training is 5 days. It has no prerequisites. For more information about the length and course material for these classes, visit www.vortexhealing.org.

VortexHealing classes are open to all interested adults. Teenagers and children are accepted on a case by case basis. No discrimination is made based on race, creed, color or religion. Teachers attempt to make reasonable accommodation for those with disabilities.

What is VortexHealing® Divine Energy Healing?

VortexHealing is a powerful, energetic healing art from the Merlin lineage, which works solely with divine light and consciousness. It derives its name from a particular energy-vortex that is the interface between our physical world and a special divine healing realm that is accessed in this art. This healing realm is what makes VortexHealing so unique, for the practitioner can channel not just a very powerful healing energy—the divine energy and light of the Vortex—but also the consciousness of this special realm, which is composed of 7 divine beings whose sole intention is to manifest healing. This enables VortexHealing to perform extraordinary healings on the physical and emotional level as well as to release the deepest karmic issues we hold as human beings—they are transformed directly by divine consciousness. Even physical matter, whether in the form of body-tissue or a musical instrument, is magically and directly transformed by this divine consciousness. This is easily demonstrated by putting a musical instrument in the healing realm for just one minute. The sound of the instrument improves remarkably, even to untrained ears. It is easy to extrapolate from that to what VortexHealing is capable of doing to a human body and energy system.

There are 49 forms of Vortex light, each designed to create a specific effect. For instance, one form of Vortex is full of compressed shakti; it's designed to be intensely active so it can energize the system as well as move and transform emotional and karmic conditioning. There is a form of Vortex just for grounding, another is specific for inflammation, and 33 are specific to different kinds of body-tissue. Many forms of Vortex open and deepen the spiritual Heart as well as open Heart wherever it is channeled in the system. And the 49 forms of Vortex can be channeled simultaneously, with each one sent by divine intelligence to exactly where needs to go.

What else makes VortexHealing® Divine Energy Healing so unique?

The human body is composed of two energy webs: the vital web, also called the life web, which holds the blueprint for the manifested universe (as well as the various planes and auric bodies) and manifests it; and the divine web, which holds divine intention for life and feeds the vital web. While all energy-channeling systems bring light-energy into the vital web (where our energy blockages are held), VortexHealing is unique in that it also works through the divine web. Vortex light is fed into the vital web of the body simultaneously from the vital web and from the divine web. The sheer volume of light brought into the system in this way is truly amazing.

VortexHealing is also unique in that, in the advanced work, students can manifest energetic structures and devices from densified Vortex light, constructed by divine intelligence, that will not break down. One can, for example, create structures for weak organs or chakras, or to restructure the energy of a room or a house or office (to manifest particular qualities or enhance certain functions, such as communication). Structures can also be used to mimic the effects of acupuncture or Jin Shin, or reduce the side effects of drugs, or counteract inflammation or focus healing energy into the center of an emotional "position". The uses for structures are endless. Structures can even be used to improve the sound of a human voice. In public demonstrations of VortexHealing, if there is a singer in the audience who is willing to participate, she is asked to sing a little bit, then to sing again after a structure is put into her voicebox (which takes about 20 seconds). The shock on people's faces when they hear the difference in her voice tells the whole story of VortexHealing—it's quite magical. The Merlin lineage needed a kind of light that could do almost anything. This is the Vortex light, directed by divine intelligence.

How is VortexHealing® Divine Energy Healing taught?

The basic training is 5 days. But VortexHealing cannot simply be taught; it must be given by transmission. The "Vortex Wheel," which comes into manifestation in the Heart, is the focal point for the basic level transmission. This is the link to the Vortex and its healing realm. It must be imprinted directly onto the trainee's nervous system, energy system and consciousness, so that a permanent connection is created. In the process, the student's entire energy system is put through an intense "light acceleration" that restructures it to both hold and handle more light. This light-acceleration is permanent. (Only certified VortexHealing teachers are able to create the transmissions necessary to practice VortexHealing. A list of these teachers can be found at www.vortexhealing.com)

Are there other aspects to VortexHealing®?

The Vortex is designed as an interdimensional structure, so it is a natural tool for facilitating earth-shifts and accessing the immense amount of divine assistance that has become available for our present human acceleration. This is the broader aspect of VortexHealing. In advanced Vortex work, practitioners learn techniques that enable them to directly participate in this acceleration. For example, they learn to open Vortex spaces over towns and cities, to work with the Merlin's Global Healing Grid, manifested by the Merlin lineage to facilitate the evolution of human consciousness, and they learn to open special energetic funnels for divine assistance to flow into the earth.

In more advanced work, the student can channel millions of different life-frequencies, as vibration or essence, in dense or homeopathic form. There is also a special InterDimensional Vortex energy that has the ability to transform the quality of glands, chakras and various energies, such as the kundalini energy. In other advanced classes, students are taught to channel the consciousness of perfect LifeForm, work at the level of DNA, and much more.

Because all divine lineages are focused on spiritual awakening, meditations are taught that utilize and build upon the energetic foundation created by the Training. These meditations are designed to evolve the level of functioning of the practitioner's energy system to make it more fluid and powerful and to bridge the practitioner's consciousness into their spiritual heart.
